

CLAIMS

What is claimed is:

1. A connector body comprising:

a plastic housing;

5 a central contact having a central pillar and a solder part, wherein said central pillar is a solid body with a compression part on the back and a round head; said solder part is in "L" shape with a round hole and said round hole grasp the compression part of said central pillar firmly .

2. The connector recited in claim 1, wherein said housing has at least a fastener slot, and 10 said fastener is bent forward in 90° for fitting into said fastener slot.